

UK DCTN SAS Fellowships

Since 2010, 8 SAS doctors have benefitted from this award, including:

Dr Alison Godwin 2010 UK DCTN SAS Fellow

Dr Godwin undertook a number of activities with us including attending the annual evidence based update meeting on acne, becoming an independent reviewer for the GREAT eczema database and contributing to a Cochrane Systematic Review on interventions for bullous pemphigoid. In 2016 she undertook a successful CESR application using her UK DCTN SAS Fellow research experiences as part of this and is now working as a Consultant Dermatologist in North Wales.

Dr Areti Makrygeorgou 2012 UK DCTN SAS Fellow

Based in Glasgow, Dr Makrygeorgou joined the Cochrane Systematic Review update team on Probiotics for Atopic Eczema as part of her UK DCTN SAS Fellow activities. She also became involved in the HOME core outcome measures for eczema initiative and wrote up a meeting report for the British Journal of Dermatology about the ISAD international eczema conference, hosted in the UK in 2012. After developing her clinical research skills via this award, Dr Makrygeorgou became a local investigator for the Hi-Light study recruiting a significant number of patients into this trial investigating the use of hand held light units for the treatment of vitiligo.

Dr Susan Hatfield 2014 UK DCTN SAS Fellow

Dr Hatfield took part in a number of research projects including an analysis of the use of CONSORT guidelines in papers reported in Cochrane Skin reviews and an Annual Evidence Based Update on eczema. She has gone on to be involved in recruiting into both the Hi-light study on vitiligo and the ALPHA hand eczema study.
